Fire prevention was top of mind for Jeff when designing his latest high-rise apartment building.

Fire! A hot topic

The collapse of the CTV Building, fire at Grenfell Tower and New Zealand International Convention Centre fire are examples of events that result in witch hunts, formal enquiry and typically, a bureaucratic knee-jerk response. Industry Insider spoke with fire expert Dean Halvorson about fire prevention in the construction sector and what we've learned from recent incidents, here →

SENEGAL Love Herz

With demand for maternity and paediatric services spiraling, Tambacounda Hospital in poverty-stricken eastern Senegal was at crisis point. An American philanthropic foundation provided a modest budget and Basel's Manuel Herz Architects won the contract for the extensions. Discover the solution they arrived at for a vital medical facility set in the world's hottest city, here →

TORONTO Habitat 67 Revisited

Toronto features an exciting new development in an industrial precinct close to the shores of Lake Ontario. BIG of Copenhagen is responsible for the design which draws inspiration from Montreal's Habitat 67. Tumbling irregular building forms in glass brick will be covered in trees and plants and provide an interesting contrast with century-old red warehouses. King Toronto offers drama aplenty, here →

SEOUL Ex Machina

If you're creating a robot museum then the best way to signal the new arrival is to have the bots build it themselves! That's exactly what Melike Altinisk Architects of Istanbul will deliver when the egg-shaped Robot Science Museum's first 'exhibition' starts. Learn about Seoul's exciting new showcase for robotics, technology and innovation, here →
